Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in the Technical Support Specialist role at Mogli Technologies. With over three years of experience supporting enterprise clients on SaaS and fintech platforms, I have built a strong foundation in first-line troubleshooting, clear client communication, and disciplined escalation—qualities I believe are essential for helping Mogli's clients succeed with the SMS and WhatsApp application.

At Taja, I supported enterprise partners integrating payment and identity-verification APIs. I investigated connectivity, webhook, and transaction failures via email, chat, and virtual meetings; reproduced issues with Postman and cURL; traced requests through logs and monitoring; and prepared reproduction-ready Jira tickets for engineering. I also maintained production monitoring, tested releases, and documented recurring fixes in knowledge-base articles and runbooks.

At LocalRamp, I provided end-to-end support for 300+ enterprise clients on a multi-tenant platform. I handled first-line requests across configuration, data, and integration issues, verified user and event states with admin panels and read-only SQL, and diagnosed API and webhook failures. I authored runbooks and client-facing troubleshooting guides that reduced onboarding time by 40% and recurring tickets by 25%, and I mentored junior technicians on triage, log searches, and evidence collection.

I am comfortable working across email, chat, phone, and video, and I enjoy translating technical issues into clear, practical guidance for both technical and non-technical users. I have working knowledge of Salesforce Cases and basic administration, and I am eager to deepen my Salesforce configuration and automation skills while contributing to Mogli's knowledge base and product release testing.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my support experience can help Mogli's clients and team. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Iyanuoluwa I. Taiwo
